Pāngarau

Alana's son won a year's supply of noodles.

Each box is 7 noodle packets long, 4 noodle packets wide, and 6 noodle packets high. How many noodle packets are in one box? How many noodle packets in all the boxes?

Do you think that's enough for a year?

If you have a ruler and noodles measure the noodles in cm - what would the length, width and height of the box be in centimetres? What would the volume of the box be in cubic centimetres?

Every day you will need to write a daily diary about what you do everyday this term.

Pick a book from the selections of books in your school pack.

Read the book two times then you need to answer the following questions.
